Patrick: Ooookay ... me: these are cultural-social phenomenon you must be aware of me: modern procedural crowd-sourced propaganda Patrick: k
me: lol k
Patrick: What next me: revolutions me: did interview with Michael Isikoff on Thursday me: going to air sometime soon on unspecified station me: made my case me: it'll be something you'll appreciate, trust me me: the whole thing Patrick: Cool
Patrick: What revolutions me: anarcho-technocratic revolutions me: run by crowd-sourced entities like mine and Anonymous me: and whatever comes after that Patrick: Donde me: see, the rule of law me: isn't really working out for us me: insomuch as that it does not seem to be universally applied in this country me: but, there's no OpUSA yet me: we're dedicated to those countries that most need revolution me: this is low on the list and also impossible me: but we can encourage youth to study minarchism, etc me: and otherwise smash the state by default me: it all sounds wacky and insane, I know me: it's just that this is 2011 Patrick: Where you think is next me: oh me: well me: that's difficult to say because it often has to do with which population makes first move me: Tunisia, we started immediately but only after protests ran for two days me: etc me: Egypt we saw coming early me: Algeria flopped me: Bahrain, Yemen have been neglected due to lack of resources me: I'm gunning for sub-Sahara for personal reasons me: OpMexio has potential, thoguh me: just not yet Patrick: Muy bien me: PRI gotta fucking go and so does Partido Trabajo me: sorry me: PAN me: has to go me: shitty party me: I used to live there on and off me: anyway, all we can do is provide certain resources to those who want them me: our power may have been overhyped lately me: by me lol Patrick: Send the link to the Isikoff thing when available me: k me: also I'll be in next Vanity Fair me: and in April me: big feature on why I'm nuts me: in D Magazine Patrick: THAT'S the one I want to read! me: it'll be a doozy me: basically I spilled everything to get in front of messaging me: as I'm a former junkie, and not that former Patrick: Tuesday? me: yeah

me: did I tell you?
Patrick: Heh me: I had to do NBC on day two me: and photo shoot just now
